"Nourishing Spirit,
Building Community,
Working for Justice"

Sunday November 23, 10:30 a.m.

"Sunday Giving"

"Thanks-Giving" focuses on how we show thanks. The indigenous community has a long history across tribes and nations of giving in celebration of the harvest. We, too, have much for which we give thanks, abundance we have of all times, even or especially in hard times. Please think of a gift you might give from your current life: spiritual instead of tangible is just fine."

Reverend Julie: Ann Silbermann-Bunn, Pulpit Guest
Jeff Bunn, Pulpit Guest Technician
Meredith Neumann, Director of Music
Benjamin Maberry, Pianist

Midweek Message from Rev. Bob...

A while back, several of you kindly sent me favorite quotes to use in these columns. I don't remember who sent me this one: Sir Ambrose Fitzgerald Flash, but in light of the Jackson Pollock picture, it seemed like a good one to include this week:

"We are each a masterpiece in the making."

You're a masterpiece...and you're not finished yet! Have a great week.

Yours peritpatically,
Rev. Bob
